Writers' Contest!

By Denise Bouchard

In our winter issue, we decided it would be a fun challenge to run a contest with a set of zany, disparate words/phrases that had to be used in a cohesive story together with a 1,000 word limit.

The words/phrases were *Three wisemen, Leather pants, Gettysburg Address, Petit Fours, Orthodontist, Madagascar Vanilla Beans, Easter and Dragon. By no means an easy feat. The 1st prize winner, Stephanie Haddad, who told her story with a compelling grace and wit using all the words, won the opportunity to design the next writer's contest which is featured in this issue.

Enjoy what she's prepared below as the next challenge!!!
