Our Writers:

~Mark Barkawitz's short story dealing with breast cancer, "Better Boobs," has been accepted for publication for the seventh time (five online; twice in print—due out this spring in anthology, "Talk About Cancer"). The new website~ www.girlswithinsurance.com .

(Their old website was the first to publish "BB" back in 2/'05.)

His short story "Weekend Warriors" was recently published on RoseCitySisters.blogspot.com

~ Lisa Rusczyk started an online publication called Hazard Cat featuring cat fiction, poetry, art and purrsonal stories. You can visit Hazard Cat at <http://hazardcat.blogspot.com/>.

Our Artists:

~ Ken Steinkamp was solicited as one of a group of hand-selected fine artists to be part of a book project, entitled, How to Paint a Donkey. It is based on the poem of the same name by Naomi Shihab Nye and focuses on people's belief in themselves and their individuality. "The book, a compilation of paintings of donkeys by artists is a hymn to the uniqueness of us all through the metaphor of all the unique little donkeys in the book. Enchanting and lyrical. What better way to celebrate individuality. And that strong, silent creature... the donkey"~ Louise Greig,
