Winged clay skeletons, evocative animal head portraits, image transfers and interpretations of archetypes illustrated as Tarot cards flow with descriptive narratives."

~ Separate and apart from WPWT, Nicole M. Bouchard maintains Illumined Essence Editing, a site dedicated to her freelance content (substantive and developmental) manuscript editing and coaching services. She'll have space for a limited amount of new clients (no more than 3) beginning in March. Whether you have a full manuscript you'd like evaluated, whether you're an emerging writer looking for coaching or a veteran of words seeking a jump-start after a hiatus, reach out and initiate a discussion about a customized relationship that would be built to support your needs. A decade of writing and editing experience in a multitude of mediums informs her approach. Visit the site for tips, testimonials, and resources.
